

Conflict In Detroit Auto-Labor Ranks Reaches New High

DETROIT—(AP)—Conflict in Detroit's auto-labor scene reached a new high today.

As problems mounted in the defense-conversion period, the CIO United Auto Workers were at odds with themselves as well as management.

Big Ford Local 600, largest of the huge UAW organization, denounced the international's policy on the Chrysler wildcat strike issue.

Speed-Up Charged

At the same time the UAW's Hudson Local 154 charged the Hudson Motor Car Co., with a lockout of its 10,000 production workers.

In both Chrysler and Hudson disputed production rates were at issue and certain union quarters charged a "speed-up."

A mass meeting of 2,000 Local 154 members yesterday adopted a policy that no member would be required to go to his job until Hudson "will make available work to its employees in good faith."

The effect remained to be seen. Union spokesmen said the local's stand did not constitute a strike.

Since June 11, Hudson has daily sent home its 10,000 workers with the claim production rates have not been met. The union has charged a speed-up and contract violation.

Crackdown Condemned

Meanwhile, Ford Local 600 condemned the UAW's international executive board for its crackdown on Chrysler's wildcat strikes.

Carl Stellato, president of Local 600, has long been fighting with UAW President Walter Reuther over the international's policies.

The UAW board, in an extreme action, took over affairs of the Chrysler De Soto Local 227 Monday after a long series of wildcat strikes.

Local 600 took sharp exception, asserting the international was "unintentionally" supporting "the position of reactionary management."

"The automobile industry," Local 600 said, "is instituting a well planned program of inhuman speed-ups designed to create confusion, disruption and disorganization of the workers."

Contino Spends Night In Jail

Draft-Ducker Thinks He Can Soldier Now

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Accordist Dick Contino, who got "panic claustrophobia" on 28,600-acre Fort Ord, Calif., spent last night in a 5 x 8 foot county jail cell.

Contino, at 21 a $44,000 a week entertainer, entered a surprise plea of guilty at his draft evasion trial yesterday. He told Federal Judge Michael J. Roche he is now ready to go into the army.

"I know I can be a good soldier—a very good soldier," he said.

Instead, the judge sent Contino to jail to await sentence Aug. 7.

"Ever since this started, I've felt like a lousy heel," Contino told the jurist.

"This" started in April. One day late, Contino reported at Fort Ord. He quickly passed an army psychiatric test. Next day, he fled in his convertible. Arrested weeks later, he explained his flight:

"Everything was behind a fence. It made me sick all over."

Opposing Contino's jailing—the youth had been free on $5,000 bond—his psychiatrist, Dr. Percy P. Poliak, told the court:

"I hate to think what will happen to a person of this type. He may go completely to pieces."

He said that when Contino was 8 years old he was locked in a refrigerator in his father's butcher shop. That, he said, helped develop the "panic reaction" which caused Contino to flee Fort Ord.

Daughter Of Former Communist Courier Wins Award Of VFW

WESTMINSTER, Md.—(AP)—Ellen Chambers, whose father once was a courier for Communist spies, has won a high school essay contest on "What America Means To Me."

Whittaker Chambers, now a Carroll county farmer, was the star government witness in the perjury conviction of Alger Hiss, former state department official.

The 16-year-old Ellen, who graduated from Westminster high in June, won the school contest conducted by a Veterans of Foreign Wars post. She received a VFW citizenship award.

HONG KONG—(AP)—Forty-eight persons expelled from Red China, including nuns and other church personnel, arrived last night in Hong Kong from Tientsin aboard the British freighter Hupen.

A U. S. missionary, a Canadian and a French priest, nine Dutch nuns and one German were among the arrivals.

Showdown Vote Near In Republican Drive To Weed Out Acheson

WASHINGTON—(AP)—At a sharply split party meeting, a majority of House Republicans present agreed to support a plan aimed at striking Secretary of State Acheson off the federal payroll.

More than 90 Republicans either did not attend or refrained from voting.

The majority approved a motion to support an amendment to the state department money bill.

Party leaders said the amendment, still to be drafted, would not designate Acheson by name but would specify that no federal pay could go to any "policy-making" department head who, at any time during the five years preceding appointment, belonged to a business or law firm that represented a foreign government.

Acheson's law firm once represented Poland.

A previous plan to ban any official was discarded on the grounds that it would hit many more men than Acheson.

The public phase of a new investigation got started today when the Senate's internal security subcommittee called Edward C. Carter, secretary-general of the Inddium of the state department appropriation bill was taken by a standing vote of 71 to 33.

Many Absentees

The threat was voiced last night in a public address by Eugene Perez, speaker of the house and president of the dominant Liberal party.

In a bitter attack on United States foreign policy, Perez said his country would refuse to sign the treaty as it is now framed; pull her consular representatives out of Japan; abrogate existing commercial treaties, and remain technically at war.

Today Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo met for the fifth time in three days with U. S. Ambassador Myron M. Coven for talks on Philippine objections to the treaty.

They center on its failure to include Japanese reparations for war damage in the Philippines.

Boston To Hear Gen. MacArthur

City Set To Stage Hero's Welcome

BOSTON—(AP)—A hero's welcome awaits General Douglas MacArthur today when he arrives for a two-day visit to Massachusetts.

The highlight of his visit will be his appearance tonight before a special joint session of the Massachusetts legislature.

The speech he is to deliver is a well-kept secret but the legislative committee which planned the visit said it would be of importance.

His House appearance will be televised, and the speech will be carried on radio net works.

General and Mrs. MacArthur will arrive in Boston on a special train, riding in the private car of New Haven railroad President Frederic C. Dumaine, Jr.

The train is to make only one stop, a momentary halt at Attleboro, not far from the North Attleboro home of U. S. Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.).

It was Rep. Martin who disclosed in Washington the contents of a letter he received from General MacArthur which was critical of American policy in Korea.

The incident precipitated President Truman's dismissal of MacArthur as supreme commander in the Far East.

Envoys Discuss Withdrawal Of Foreign Troops

Next Peace Session Set For Thursday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Communists were reported today to have offered a compromise in the Korean cease-fire talks under which withdrawal of foreign troops would not be discussed until after an armistice.

Indications are that this proposal will prove acceptable to the United Nations command.

The Reds heretofore have insisted that the issue of pulling foreign troops out—U. N. forces and Chinese Reds—should be on the program of armistice talks.

Information here is that under the new Communist offer the most the U. N. Allies would have to undertake is a promise to discuss arrangements under which the whole foreign troops problem would be taken up later.

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(AP)—Communist cease-fire negotiators today advanced a new proposal on withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea. A United Nations spokesman called it "reasonable in content and phrasing."

Brig. Gen. William Nuckols, who attended today's sessions, said the new Red proposition was "more temperate and reasonable in tone" than previous Communist demands.

Details Not Revealed

Officially the U. N. said the new Chinese and North Korean suggestion on troop withdrawals was "sufficiently interesting" for Allied delegates to propose a long overnight recess for further study.

Neither Nuckols nor the U. N. communicate indicated exactly how the Reds had modified their demand.

The five Communist generals brought out their new plan after a three-day recess. They had asked for the recess Saturday to consult with their governments on the troop withdrawal demand which had threatened to break up discussions.

Wednesday's sessions ended in an atmosphere of "now we are getting somewhere," Nuckols said.

Oil Rationing Not Likely This Winter

WASHINGTON—(AP)—There is little likelihood that oil products will have to be rationed this winter, Al Frame of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) said yesterday.

Frame, assistant deputy director of the agency, told an industry group "there will be tightness in fuel oil but for all other petroleum products I can't see where there will be any rationing."

Secretary of the Interior Chapman has cautioned that some rationing of oil products may be necessary in from eight to ten months if the industry does not get the steel it needs for pipelines and well drilling.

Decision On Boosting U. S. Armed Strength To Come In October

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The decision on whether to boost the armed strength of the United States beyond existing plans apparently will be made by the White House and defense department next October.

Defense Secretary Marshall indicated this yesterday in a news conference which:

1. Followed President Truman's message to Congress warning it might be necessary to exceed the present 3,500,000 military manpower objective.

2. Preceded a Detroit speech by Secretary of State Acheson which estimated the strength of the Com-

Flood Recedes On Mississippi

Two States Estimate Loss At Billion

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—(AP)—The devastating midwestern flood headed for the south today, but minus the punch that caused an estimated $1,000,000,000 damages in Kansas and Missouri.

The Mississippi River registered 41.8 feet here yesterday noon and it was still at that point several hours later. The predicted crest was 41.9 for sometime last night but the next official reading was to be made at 9 a. m. (EST) today.

Army engineers and weather bureau officials don't expect further damage as the flood crest heads for the Gulf of Mexico. High, strong levees keep the river in check the rest of the way.

The officials said it would take a double-barreled blow from both the Upper Mississippi and the Ohio Rivers to bring trouble and the Ohio is below flood stage.

Many storekeepers continued to operate here, using pumps and sandbags to keep the water down. Clerks waded around in boots serving customers.

Total damage here was estimated at $1,000,000, much of it in wages lost by 1,500 factory workers when water surrounded their plants.

Cherry Pickers Get In Wreck; One Dead And Seven Injured

SHELBY, Mich.—(AP)—A truck bringing 25 Muskegon residents to work in the cherry orchards near here collided with an auto on US-31 south of Shelby today, killing one woman and injuring at least seven other persons.

The dead woman, riding in the truck, was identified as Josephine Womm, 42. The injured were taken to Mercy hospital in Muskegon.

Legion Rally Aug. 2

DETROIT—(AP)—An estimated 7,000 Legionnaires are expected to gather here Aug. 2 for the largest state American Legion convention of recent years. The convention, highlighted by drum and bugle corps competition Aug. 3 and a parade Aug. 4, will close Aug. 5.

Today the 10-man party, plus a Reuters reporter, Peter Jackson, who joined the expedition the last minute in Iceland, was sightseeing. The town of Fairbanks, nearby airbases and gold mining operations were to be inspected.

Then tomorrow at 8 a. m. (1 p. m. EST) they plan to fly the plane the 4,128 miles back to Manby, England. The return flight will be via the polar regions, but not necessarily over the pole again, Frogley said.

Acheson Sees Big Job Ahead To Shield U. S.

Gay Banquet Held At Detroit Memorial

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN

DETROIT—(AP)—The United States and its Allies must put forth "several years of very hard effort" to build a shield against nine million Communists under arms, Secretary of State Acheson declared last night.

"Whether or not an armistice results from the talks in Korea," he said, "the fundamental job ahead of us will not change."

Warning against a letdown in defense efforts, Acheson said: "If we shirk the hard course, the alternatives are war or surrender."

More Sacrifices

"The prospect may be hard and long," he said. "It may mean more sacrifices for us, more shortages, higher taxes. But there is no easier way through the dangers of the present."

Acheson spoke at a gay banquet in the newly erected Veterans Memorial building on the riverfront celebrating Detroit's 250th birthday.

His speech was interrupted by one outburst of spontaneous applause from 450 civic and industrial leaders attending the festival. That came when he declared that once adequate defenses have been built up, "they must be maintained, and fully maintained."

Unity Emphasized

In a display of Allied unity Acheson shared the flag-bedecked rostrum with the ambassadors of Great Britain, France and Canada.

Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador, declared, "Our four countries have a great part to play in the world today." He added, "we believe we shall win."

Henri Bonnet, the French ambassador, also underscored unity. He said France will form this year the 10 divisions promised for the North Atlantic defense forces despite the burden of the Indo-China fighting.

Acheson and Bonnet both struck a note of optimism in describing progress toward setting up a single European army to combat Communism.

The diplomats referred to a preliminary agreement reached in Paris yesterday to merge land, sea and air power of five European countries into a 2,000,000-man internationalized force.

Bomber Flies Over The Pole

British Crew Reports Weather Was Fine

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—(AP)—Ten crewmen of a British bomber stretched their air legs today after a casual hop over the top of the world from Iceland to Fairbanks.

It took the four-engined Avro bomber 18 hours and 54 minutes to go over the North Pole to Fairbanks from the takeoff point at Keflavik, Iceland, a 3,558-mile jaunt.

"It was a beautiful day at the North Pole" and a "Jolly good flight," Wing Cmdr. R. T. Frogley commented briskly after arriving here through "typical English weather" in an instrument landing at 9:54 a. m. (2:54 p. m. EST) yesterday.

Today the 10-man party, plus a Reuters reporter, Peter Jackson, who joined the expedition the last minute in Iceland, was sightseeing. The town of Fairbanks, nearby airbases and gold mining operations were to be inspected.

Then tomorrow at 8 a. m. (1 p. m. EST) they plan to fly the plane the 4,128 miles back to Manby, England. The return flight will be via the polar regions, but not necessarily over the pole again, Frogley said.

British Study Iran's Proposal To Reopen Oil Dispute Dickers

LONDON—(AP)—British government leaders huddled today over an Iranian plan for reopening talks between the two nations on their bitter oil nationalization dispute.

Informed sources said a cabinet session will be held tomorrow on the new turn in the crucial row.

Iran's terms for renewing oil negotiations were sent here yesterday along with suggestions by American negotiator W. Averell Harriman, who has been consulting for more than a week in Tehran with Iran's government leaders.

An American embassy spokesman in the Iranian capital said Harriman felt his talks had made "real progress."

Informants here said Iran has offered to talk over a new oil deal, if Britain accepts nationalization of her billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company holdings.

Both Harriman and Iran's government were said to have submitted similar proposals under which Iranian ownership of the giant AIOC refinery would be accepted as prescribed in the nationalization law. However, there would be an associated operating company controlled by oil customers.

Mrs. Buchanan, a Democrat, was chosen in a special election yesterday to succeed her late husband, Rep. Frank Buchanan.

It also bore a warning that funds could not be donated by persons receiving money from the federal government.

"The carefully noted message for governmental employees is obvious in its intent," Alger said. "All government employees are expected to contribute and in the amounts specified. In other words, if you have a job, brother—pay for it."

Noting that Williams had disavowed the request for funds, Alger remarked that Williams was listed on the letter as honorary chairman.

"Maybe he doesn't know what is going on," Alger said, "and maybe he doesn't want to know, he may be blind to what makes up the Democratic party today."

Will Build Dam On Paint River

Wisconsin-Michigan Utility To Expand

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. — Submitting the low figure of $478,458, Champion, Inc., of Iron Mountain, is the successful bidder for the construction—on the Paint river, in Iron county—of the first of three new hydro-electric plants for the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company.

Construction will begin in about two weeks.

Other bidders

The figure of $478,458, according to advices today from the Power company's headquarters office in Appleton, Wis., may be revised downward, slightly, by reason of certain readjustments.

Other bids were Bacco Construction company, Iron Mountain; Edward H. Meyer Construction Co., Neenah, Wis., and C. R. Meyer and Sons, Oshkosh, Wis.

This development, Wisconsin-Michigan officials said here, will be known as the Lower Paint dam and the contract calls for the furnishing of all labor, construction equipment, services and materials to build a concrete dam, powerhouse and also a canal approximately a mile and a quarter in length.

The Power company has on order all the machinery and major equipment to be erected by the contractor.

It is also the intention of Wisconsin-Michigan to build dams on the Lower Michigan Falls and Hemlock Falls, on the Michigan river, but these contracts have not yet been awarded. However, major equipment for both jobs is on order.

For Future Needs

Construction of these three new generating plants is in line with the company program of providing generating capacity ahead of its currently-needed load-requirements. Increased use of electricity by all classes of customers, the announcement adds, has advanced at a rapid rate during the past few years.

Wisconsin-Michigan today is furnishing power for most of the principal mines and other large industries throughout this area. The company's long-range production of planning and construction, begun several years ago when it appeared that there would be a constantly-increasing need for the added energy, has moved forward steadily.

Passing Another Car Is Difficult Maneuver

(This is another in a series of articles on traffic safety and how the uniform enforcement policy adopted in Escanaba will reduce accidents. The final article in the series will appear tomorrow.)

One of the most difficult traffic maneuvers for motorists to make in safety is the passing of another vehicle on street or highway, according to State Director Glenn Leonard of the Escanaba Police department.

He explained that most streets are narrow and require the passing motorist to pull across the center line on the wrong side of the road. This invites possible head-on collision with another vehicle moving in the opposite direction.

"Trying to judge the speed of a car coming toward you is several times more difficult than judging the speed of cross traffic or vehicles going in the same direction," Leonard pointed out.

In addition the motorist has to judge the speed of the car he is attempting to pass and also estimate how far ahead it will be by the time the motorist can get beyond it and pull back on the right side of the road. This must be done within the speed limit.

A motorist can never be sure that another pedestrian or vehicle may not cross in front of the car ahead since it is difficult to see through it and observe the obstacles ahead.

Errors Are Easy

When you put all this together, judging the speed of three different vehicles simultaneously, one of them extremely hard to estimate, plus the constant possibility of a hidden pedestrian or vehicle popping right in front of you, it is easy to see that any one of several simple errors will cause an accident.

Taking these chances is not worthwhile unless the vehicle ahead of you is going much slower than the legal speed limit. The amount of time you hope to save is not worth the gamble.

The least serious violation printed on the new traffic ticket is passing at an intersection. Here the hazard is one of the vehicle you are trying to pass being forced over in your lane or of the hidden pedestrian or vehicle pulling out in front of you.

"Cut In" Is Serious

The more serious violation is that of "cut in" where you fail to get far enough beyond the vehicle you are passing before you pull back into the right lane. This "cutting-in" may force the other driver to slam on his brakes and cause a rear end collision, or swerve right and run into a parked car or pedestrian.

The most serious violation is passing on the wrong side of the street on a four-lane road. No driver expects another driver to cross the centerline in order to pass another vehicle on a four-lane highway.

It is always annoying to have the vehicle ahead of you traveling at a rate of speed more slowly than you wish to go. But some drivers let this annoyance make them angry enough to make an illegal pass. If officers fail to stop them from doing so, sooner or later an illegal pass will cause an accident.

Peace On Communist Terms In Korea Would Mean Surrender

If the Korean armistice negotiations break down on the issue of removal of foreign troops—as now seems likely—it will be because the Communists are interested more in propaganda fodder than in a sincere effort to find a basis for peace.

The Communists are demanding the withdrawal of all foreign troops in Korea as a main item on the cease-fire agenda. The UN negotiators insist that this issue be settled at a higher level after the gunfire has stopped.

The Communists have entered the cease-fire negotiations as though they are the conquerors in the Korean war. In fact, the Pyongyang radio keeps prating about the "defeat" of American troops. The real truth, of course, is that the Communists have suffered tremendous casualties in the Korean war and have been driven back beyond the positions that existed when the fighting started.

In the meantime, the Communist troops have been rebuilding their strength, apparently to take advantage of any breakdown in negotiations on the armistice issue.

It appears now that the Korean war will soon break out again with greater fury because there can be no basis for peace on the terms laid down by the Communists. To yield on this point now would mean

Birds Eye Plans $150,000 Expenditure

ANNOUNCEMENT that the Birds Eye Veneer company is spending $150,000 this year for installation of new equipment indicates general optimism in the future of this important industry.

The Birds Eye Veneer company is a woods working plant that has been a large employer of local labor for many, many years. Many of the woods plants that were in operation during the period of years in which the Birds Eye plant has been located here are now out of business, some of them forced to quit because of a shortage of local logs. The Birds Eye fortunately produces specialized materials commanding a price that makes possible the importation of logs from long distances, when necessary.

Also, new uses for quality veneers have been developed, a situation that improves the demand for the product of the Escanaba plant.

The Birds Eye company employs 250 persons in the Escanaba mills. The monthly payroll is well in excess of $50,000. Naturally the people of Escanaba and vicinity are vitally interested in the company. The announcement of planned expenditures for installation of new equipment is particularly good news.

Nahma Soon To Feel Loss Of Industry

THE people of Nahma soon will experience that feeling of insecurity that comes from the loss of a single industry that has sustained their happy community for seven decades.

Back in the early eighties, the Bay de Noquet Lumber company began operations at Nahma with a stock of 200,000 acres of timberland. It cut its last stand last winter and this spring along the shores of Lake Superior near Grand Marais.

With all its timber gone, the Bay de Noquet company is closing its big sawmill at Nahma this week. Some of the 225 employees will be employed at the planing mill and the dismantling of the mill machinery until fall, and then it will be finished as far as lumbering is concerned.

Faithful employees, who will be laid off this week, will receive their share of the $100,000 severance pay fund, established by the Bay de Noquet company a couple of years ago in anticipation of liquidation.

Since early spring when he launched a nation-wide advertising - publicity campaign, Charles E. Good, president of the Bay de Noquet company, has been working day and night trying to attract one or more industries to Nahma to provide employment for the displaced workers.

Negotiations with several good prospects have been under way for weeks. But anyone who is familiar with a community's efforts to attract new industries knows how many discouraging obstacles can be encountered.

One large corporation was eager to establish a large-sized plant in Nahma, but it wanted an unusually large supply of electric power available at once. But with electric power meeting increased demand in the area, it was not possible to provide additional generating facilities quickly enough to satisfy the prospect.

Negotiations are being made with other industrial prospects, however, and it is to be hoped that Nahma will soon get a new factory or a number of small diversified industries will assure economic security for the future.

Slave

When you read the advertisements of the real estate for sale, which describe a cozy little house that nestles in the dale, you're impressed with all the benefits of which the salesmen sing, if you buy a home when you've bought the place, your life is not serene, and the king is just a sweating slave who labors for the queen.

Now the agent, when he sold the house, described the fine weekends, which you'd while away in comfort and the company of friends. But it seems the little woman has some other plans for you, and she orders many changes, though your home is spanking new. First she wants another color on those gleaming kitchen walls, and each night he keeps you hard at work long after evening falls.

Build a shelf right here, a closet there, and then some hooks for clothes, wax the floor at once and then be sure the budding garden grows. Build a wall of stone and shovel dirt, and plant some shrubs and trees—why, you'd like to see that salesman who described a life of ease. For you've learned where any man who upon the household scene, he is really just a sweating slave who labors for the queen.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — For about two days last week, President Truman was on the verge of losing his defense mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, who, whether you like him or not, has done a masterful job of speeding up production.

The crisis over Wilson came about as a result of the Kansas-Missouri flood, and an amazing boner pulled by the White House.

What happened was that Wilson had urged the president to survey the flood area; then, on the insistence of Mr. Truman, Wilson also went along. The defense mobilizer argued that he was busy in Washington with 101 different things, but finally acceded to the president's wishes.

On the trip, the president made several statements to Kansas and Missouri crowds that he was giving his chief mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, the man who knew more about production than anyone else in the U. S. A., the job of getting the flood areas back on their feet, and on the plane en route to Washington, the president also emphasized to Wilson that he was to be entrusted with this important extra work.

One thing that impressed both Wilson and the president on the trip was the effect of the flood on national defense. For instance, the new channel which the flood cut through the Kansas City freight yards caught 8,000 boxcars, 5,000 of them loaded. Likewise, Kansas City's cattle pens, where a large segment of the nation's cattle go to market, had been washed away. So the president, talking to Wilson on the plane, told him to shoot the works.

TRUMAN GOES TO BED

Then, being a little tired from the long day and having enjoyed Kansas City's traditional liquid hospitality—due no doubt to the water shortage—the president went forward in the plane and went to bed.

Wilson, however, sat up until 1:30, when the plane landed, going over flood rehabilitation plans with his chief assistant, Alfred Howes, whose home is in Wichita, Kansas, and who is thoroughly familiar with that area.

Next morning, following out his presidential instruction, Wilson called a meeting of all cooperating mobilization agencies. He called it for 9 a. m., despite the fact that he hadn't landed until 1:30 and had to scramble for a car at the airport, while Gen. Lewis Pick and the top brass went off in limousines.

At the 9 a. m. meeting, Wilson explained the seriousness of the flood problem, said that the president had placed him in charge and started a three-hour survey of what the federal government could do. One by one he went round the table, assigning each man a part of the job, discussing priorities for lumber, steel, railroad cars, how sufficient tractors, combines, and farm machinery could replace those lost in the flood without disturbing the defense effort. Wilson even went into the fact that farm machinery must be produced not piecemeal, but on an assembly-line basis, in order to save time and effort.

ONE ABSENTEE

However, there was one empty seat at the long table of about 30 government officials. This was the chair of Raymond Foley, in charge of defense housing.

About noon, Mr. Foley came in, his hair slightly awry, obviously rushed.

"Excuse my lateness," he explained, "but I was called to the White House and detained there."

"That's all right," said Wilson, "we'll call on you next."

Then Foley, not knowing what the meeting had been discussing, proceeded to announce that the president had called him in to give him the job of rehabilitating the flood-stricken areas.

Complete silence fell on the room. Wilson turned white, looked down at his papers, pretended to shuffle them.

Still not sensing what had happened, Foley proceeded to outline his own plans for the flooded areas and to say that he would call on this man and that for help.

The silence continued. Wilson did not say a word. Finally, as Foley concluded, he announced: "The meeting is adjourned."

Wilson still did not challenge Foley, even after the meeting broke up, but his assistant, Howes, did. He pulled Foley aside, told him what had happened. Foley looked just as surprised as Wilson.

Lawton and Howes finally straightened things out. They drafted a letter which the president signed, directing Wilson to take over all flood problems on a national scale and asking him to work with Foley on matters pertaining to the local and municipal level.

Foley, incidentally, went out of his way to cooperate, and, in the end, so did Wilson.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

The prohibitionists who speak of intoxicating liquor as "poison," are using the literal meaning of the word, whether they know it or not.

This is a curious word, which started out as the Greek toxon, "a bow (for hurling arrows)." From toxon the word evolved thus: toxikos, "of or for the bow"; toxikon, "a poison for the tip of arrows"; Latin toxicum, "poison"; intoxicare, "to drug or poison"; intoxicare, "to poison; to make drunk."

The Greek's arrow poison—toxikon—survives in scores of such words as toxic, toxin, auto-intoxication ("self-poisoning"), and other "poison" words.

Another interesting word is stigma. It was the custom among the ancients to place an identifying mark on slaves, criminals, and soldiers. This mark was called in Greek, stigma, from stizein, "to prick; to brand."

The word entered Latin, and meant "a mark made with a branding iron; a brand." Hence we have our modern meaning, "any mark of infamy or disgrace caused by dishonorable conduct."

From stigma have come instigate, (in, "on" plus stig-, "to prick"; "to spur on" stimulate (from the Latin stimulare, "goad"; instigate, which first meant "instigation," then "suggestion," then "impulse," and, finally, "a natural impulse.

"Is This a Private Fight or Can Anyone Get In?"

J. Edgar Hoover Declares:

'Let's Fight For Americanism!' Here's How To Beat Communism

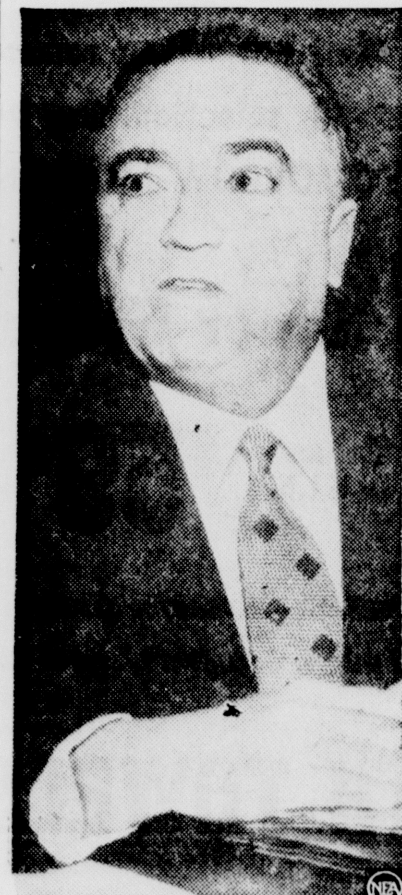

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

(Written for NEA Service)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The man, taut with emotion, pounded the table. He was emphatic; every word he spoke rang crystal clear. His Communist comrades listened carefully.

"We've got to have professional revolutionists—people who are going to live and die with the Party. That's what we need—people who sleep, dream, eat with it, everything. Nothing but the Party, Party, Party."

He kept right on. "Comrades aren't interested enough in Marxism-Leninism! Everybody must work harder and harder! The

J. EDGAR HOOVER: Eat, sleep and dream Americanism.

Party is supreme — never must there be a let-up in Party work! His theme was horribly obvious: "The Party — nothing but the Party—sleep, dream, eat with it, everything."

This is Communist fanaticism—the fanaticism which encourages the Communist to stand long hours on windy, rain-swept street corners, handing out propaganda leaflets, or to betray vital secrets to an enemy espionage agent. Here is the driving power of Marxism-Leninism: an important reason why Communism is today America's mortal enemy. The Communist's speaker left no doubt in the minds of his listeners—the Communist speaker left no doubt of complete devotion.

Too frequently, in discussing Communism, we overlook the mentality of the devout Communist member. To him, Communism is not an organization, a club, an entertainment, or a fun fest. Not at all. Communism is a way of life, engulfing his entire personality.

Everything he does, where he goes in the evening, whom he marries, what he reads, what he thinks (or doesn't think), is determined by the Party. He is imprisoned, from morning to night, in an iron crib of ideology—he exists, not as a human being, but only in relation to the Party.

Hence, the Party is supreme. Any person, organization or nation which opposes, even in the slightest degree, the Party line must be resisted, attacked and, if possible, completely liquidated.

Differences of opinion must be crushed; opposition cannot be tolerated. There is only one truth—the Communist truth. And the devout Communist will fight, fair or foul, to promote that truth. To relax, even for a moment, is betrayal.

The Communist mentality represents a dread danger to the American way of life. The Communist Party, U. S. A., small in size, but fantastically fanatic, can exert influence completely out of proportion to its numbers.

By unwavering loyalty, blind obedience, the Communists sweep away any opponent who falters, hesitates, or is uncertain. Time after time the Communist juggernaut, propelled by fiendish devotion, breaks through the democratic defenses.

Every patriotic American, at this critical period in our nation's history, must understand the Communist mental outlook.

To defeat this enemy, every citizen must take democratic government seriously—as seriously, in fact, as the Communist does his ideology. We must, to paraphrase the Communist speaker, eat, sleep, and dream Americanism.

The defense of our way of life is not a one-day-a-week proposition, or to be relegated to a spare-time activity. Absolutely not. Freedom is a full-time occupation, requiring our interest, attention and talents every minute of the day. To be half-hearted will enable the enemy to gain a beachhead of strength.

The Communist will spend hours attempting to peddle Communist literature. Will you, as a citizen, take 10 minutes of your time to report a violation of the law which has come to your attention?

Will you take an evening to acquaint yourself with the needs of your local law enforcement agency? Have you volunteered your services to help in a boys' club program or a juvenile recreational project? These are the questions! Upon the answers rests democracy's defense against the Red Fascist foe.

Time is vital. Communist fanaticism can be matched by American zeal. The Communists are willing to fight for their cause. Are we?

Certainly. The spirit of democracy is the nation's most effective offensive weapon. Take hold—do your share. Let's keep the flag of freedom flying high.

Pioneers Were Meat-Conscious Too; Ate Bison, Elk And Deer

Meat has jumped from America's dinner table into the nation's press, politics, and public consciousness.

Among the best-fed people in the world, the average American eats about 148 pounds of red meat a year, says the National Geographic Society. If he is in uniform, he may expect nearly four-fifths of a pound a day, or 288 pounds a year. He wants, and gets about half of it in beef, 46 percent in pork, and the rest in lamb and mutton.

Thus, anything that affects meat supply—as is indicated by the present controversy over price controls—touches the U. S. citizen in such vital spots as his health and habits, palate and pocketbook. It has been so since the nation was young and its forests and plains teemed with a seemingly inexhaustible supply of wild game.

20 Billion Dollars

In those days the average man and woman outside the crowded eastern cities ate an estimated 300 pounds of meat a year, in the form of bison and antelope, deer and elk. Beef did not become an established part of American meat habits until after the Civil War.

By then the cattle brought to the New World by the Spanish had developed into great herds which ranged the Southwest. As railroads pushed west, the parade of beef animals started east and the nation's modern meat industry—valued now at some 20 billion dollars—was founded.

Although the United States has more invested in meat than any other nation in the world, its per capita meat consumption is less than that of several other countries. The Argentine, for example, with pampas overflowing with beef cattle, eats on the average some 267 pounds of meat a year while the Australian and New Zealander consume about 245 pounds of meat annually.

50 Pounds for Briton

In contrast to these world highs in meat consumption, the citizen of the British Isles, who eats at home on rationed food, is allowed only about 50 pounds of meat a year. Low as the ration is, it is not necessarily inconsistent with good health standards—as studies made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics reveal.

In planning a balanced diet for people with very low incomes the Bureau includes only 39 pounds of meat per year for the average person, or 52 pounds of protein foods including meat, poultry and fish.

So They Say

Speech is not an absolute right . . . (and) nothing is more certain in modern society than the principle that there are no absolutes. To those who would paralyze our government in the face of impending threat by encasing it in a semantic straitjacket we must reply that all concepts are relative.—Fred Vinson, chief justice Supreme Court, on free speech.

African Safari With Bob Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK

GRUMMETT CAMP, TANGANYIKA—Old chui, the leopard, is possibly the most beautiful of all the African trophies, and also about the most chancy to collect. He combines extreme wariness with unpredictable arrogance. He might sink like a snake through bush that wouldn't hide a mouse, or stroll boldly into camp and Polish off your pet dog.

He travels almost entirely at night, and generally sticks close to almost impenetrable cover. He fights like a demon when wounded, and when four guys track him into the bush two or three generally get scratched up. A big tom is nearly as big as a lioness, with comparably formidable fangs and claws. He isn't hard to kill, but awful hard to get a crack at.

There are two ways to bag a chui. One is by sheer accident, such as running into him asleep, or to set up a blind for him and wait until dusk when he comes to feed on the kill. Sometimes a leopard won't feed on the kill. Sometimes he comes after dark. Sometimes he comes at 5:30, or 6:45, just as the shooting light fades, and often he doesn't come at all.

ALIVE WITH CHUIS

The Grummett river seemed to be alive with chuis. All night long you could hear the chui, the leopard, and the enraged curses of the baboons after a scream told you that the hunting cat had scragged an unwary youngster. We figured at least five leopards, maybe more.

Our professional hunter, Harry Selby, had a favorite tree which had yielded him leopards before. I shot a Grant gazelle and a wart hog—both of which chui adores—and we hung them up in the tree.

"We'll let them hang about three or four days, until they get good and ripe," Selby said. "Chui likes them real high. When you can smell that pig all the way to camp, we'll go and have a look." Three days later we checked the tree and saw what was evidently a big one had been feeding on the Grant gazelle, averaging about 20 pounds of flesh a night.

"Give him two more days," Selby said, "until he's really fond of that smell, and we'll go collect him. Maybe. You can't count on any leopard to do anything you expect him to."

Came the two days and we took off in Jessica, the jeep. We sat ready to jump and as the jeep whizzed past the blind we shot into the cover like a pair of frightened hares. Jessica went back to camp, with instructions to return at dusk.

LOADED WITH BUCKSHOT

I poked the .30-06, sighted in for 50 yards, through a hole in the brush, squinted at the kill in the tree, and Selby and I settled down to wait. He was wearing a shotgun loaded with buckshot, which is what you use in heavy brush if you wound the cat and have to go in after him. An angry, wounded leopard moves with the speed of light.

You can't move, talk, read or scratch in a chui blind. You just sit while the tsetse flies and mosquitoes feast. But as time passes and expectancy grows, it is the most suspensefully fascinating wait in the world.

It is now 20 minutes to 7, with five minutes of shooting light left. Five hundred yards away a leopard makes his saw-sounding cough. Almost immediately there is a scratching noise and in the tree which has been all tree there is nothing but leopard. Nothing before, and suddenly everything.

There is no comparable sight. The big round head appears in the first fork, seemingly as big as a barrel. The cold eyes stare directly at you, and chui turns his head slowly, casing the joint. And you don't shoot him. You wait.

DRUNK WITH EXCITEMENT

There is a blur, a flash, and suddenly the leopard is on another branch. He is suspicious and isn't going to the kill. He is heading aloft to safety, because you can't see him up there in the rigging. Selby murmurs, "Now or never," and your reflexes work unbidden. Somehow the sight centers on the shoulder, as this great cat stands profiled against the deep green and the fading light. You never heard the Remington talk but the bullet whunks and down he comes, hitting the ground like a thunderclap.

"Meat," Selby says. "Right on the button." He whacks you on the back and walks up carefully with the shotgun, because dead game has a habit of coming alive and killing people. "Heart and both shoulders," Selby says. "A beauty."

So there he lays, old chui, your chui, eight foot of golden tom, as beautiful dead as he was alive, and you handled him just right, because one shot is all you ever get. I tell you, I was drunk when we came back to camp, and I hadn't had a drink. I didn't need one.

Social Security
Deadline July 31

"July 31 is the deadline for filing social security tax returns covering wages paid regular household workers in April, May and June," housewives were reminded today by Carl Johnson, manager of the social security office here.

A regular household worker is defined as one who works full or part time on 24 different days during the calendar quarter and is paid at least $50 in cash wages. Any work about the household—maid, laundress, gardener, baby sitter, furnace man, private chauffeur, etc.—is included under the law.

The social security law was recently amended to cover domestic, farm, self-employed and other workers previously excluded from the old-age and survivors insurance program which has been available to workers in commerce and industry since 1937.

Schools Abuse
GI Education

Treasury Tapped For Over-Payments

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A large number of trade schools, colleges and universities seized upon the multi-billion dollar GI education program to tap the treasury for over-payments, the general accounting office says.

The office's report was made public yesterday by Rep. Teague (D-Texas), chairman of a House subcommittee studying the system. The report said investigators found over-payments of one kind or another at two-thirds of the schools examined.

The report was issued on the eve of expiration today of the big GI education and training program for most of the veterans of World War II.

The cut-off of benefits applies to veterans generally who are not currently in the program, except for those discharged after July 25, 1947. The latter have four years from the date of discharge in which to start GI bill training.

The veterans administration estimates that about 7,600,000 of the 15,200,000 World War II veterans have benefited from the program at some time during the seven years the program has been operating.

The GAO's report cited instances to show that the program was sloppily administered and shot through with overpayments and "questionable practices."

Chitwood Show
To Come Here

State Fair Offers
Thrills And Spills

The daring Joie Chitwood automobile thrill show will be featured as the grandstand attraction Tuesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 14, opening day of the Upper Peninsula State Fair here.

The Joie Chitwood Dare Devils appeared at the U. P. State Fair for the first time last year and scored such an outstanding hit with fair patrons that the board of managers secured the attraction as a repeater for the 1951 fair.

The Chitwood troupe includes automobile and motorcycle stuntmen who rate as tops in a death-defying business. Members of the troupe are veterans of the automobile race speedways, motion picture stuntmen and test drivers for automobile manufacturers.

A feature of the show is the ramp to ramp car catapult, the stunt in which the late Luck Tetter was killed and the subject of many movie shorts. Most thrill show troupes have discontinued this dangerous stunt but Joie Chitwood has perfected it to breath-taking precision.

In addition to the skilled drivers and stuntmen, the Chitwood show features outstanding clowns

Father Tries To Kill
3 Infant Children;
Baby Clings To Life

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va.—(AP)—Tiny Linda Sue Conley clung to life today, the sole survivor of her father's violent assault on his three infant children.

Doctors hoped the three-month-old girl would escape the fate that befell her two brothers when Raymond W. Conley, 39, tried in a fit of rage Monday to kill all three.

William Emery Conley, 18-months old, died instantly from a throat slash. Last night, death claimed the second of the children, Wilson Lee, aged three, shot in the stomach.

Linda Sue was cut about the throat during the assault.

Conley, a shipping clerk estranged from his wife, told police he assaulted the youngsters after he was forced to stay home from work to tend them. A baby-sitter, scheduled to arrive, never did.

Conley is charged with murder and yesterday was ordered held for grand jury action after a preliminary hearing.

Conley's mother, Mrs. Clemmie Hawley, with whom he and the children lived, said yesterday Conley "hasn't been himself" since suffering a head injury in World War Two. He was a Seabee in the Pacific theater.

Townships Fail To Pay County

Road Commission Reports Deficit

The Delta county road commission, at its regular meeting, adopted a "pay as you go" policy with regard to road improvement services to township governments.

A report by William Karas, county road superintendent, showed that various townships owe the Delta county commission a total of $30,500 for services and improvement work provided before June 1. As a result of the lag in collections, the report pointed out the commission will fall $22,000 short of meeting its disbursements up to next Oct. 15 unless these accounts receivable are paid.

In view of this financial situation, the road commission voted unanimously to adopt a "pay as you go" policy with the townships, which had promised to reimburse the county for services rendered but to date had not done so.

The commission also decided that it would no longer maintain County Road 483 within the incorporated village of Garden, effective July 23, 1951, since the village is now receiving gas and weight tax revenues for this purpose. The decision was in line with an agreement made by the county road commission and Garden village officials last year.

Karas reported to the board that someone stole 240 cubic yards of crushed gravel from the Indian Point pit. The gravel had been processed for use on a blacktop road improvement job in Nahma township, and the theft will cause a serious delay to the project. State police are investigating the case.

Farmington Youth Who Shot At Bathers Gets 30 Days In Jail

DETROIT—(AP)—A 20-year-old Farmington youth who admitted firing six rifle shots around swimmers in a Northville gravel pit Sunday was sentenced today to 30 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Harold Frederick pleaded guilty to careless use of firearms before Redford township justice of the peace Randall C. Kohler.

John Garrett, 20, was wounded in the thigh during the shooting, but Frederick denied firing that bullet. He claimed Garrett was shot by a 14-year-old boy whom he had given the gun.

No charge yet has been placed against the boy.

Michigan Pheasants Hatching

The number of times this scene is repeated this summer will be all-important to the success of Michigan pheasant hunters next fall. Here, the last two chicks in a brood of six are about dry and ready to leave a nest in southeastern Ingham county. Conservation department game men report most hens hatch their broods in June and early July but that a few stragglers will be on nests in August. This nesting scene serves to emphasize the fact that it is quite a feat for a chick to survive the numerous obstacles which confront it. Assuming the pheasant reaches the stage portrayed here, it has to run the gauntlet of natural enemies, seek food and cover, and then match wits with the hunter in the fall.

Illegal Road Signs Must Go

County Commission Issues Edict

Billboards and other commercial signs placed on county road right-of-way in violation of the state law must be removed at once, the Delta county road commission decided at its regular meeting.

William Karas, county road superintendent, explained to the commission members that a business place is permitted to place a single sign in front of the property occupied by the establishment. However, some business operators have placed additional signs illegally at other points along the highway.

The commission instructed Supt. Karas to notify the owners of the illegal signs to remove them. If the order is not complied with in a reasonable time, road employees will be obliged to eliminate them, the commission decided.

Hoodlum Costello Indicted By Jury In Contempt Case

NEW YORK—(AP)—Frank Costello, named by the Senate Crime committee as the top man in the nation's underworld, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of contempt of the Senate.

Gambler Joe Adonis (Joseph Doto) and confessed bookmaker Frank Erickson were indicted on the same charge.

The indictments stemmed from their refusal to answer questions at the widely-publicized crime committee hearings in New York last March.

Costello was indicted on nine counts, Adonis on 16, and Erickson on 74.

The maximum penalty on each count is a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said a warrant would be issued for Costello's arrest.

Both Adonis and Erickson already are serving sentences for violation of gambling laws, Adonis in New Jersey and Erickson in New York.

Kerosene And Gas From Iran For India

NEW DELHI—(AP)—India in 1950-51 has depended on Iran for 76 per cent of her gasoline and 67 per cent of kerosene, commerce ministry officials have revealed.

Iran supplied India 146,800,000 gallons of gasoline and 156,300,000 gallons of kerosene, out of total imports respectively of 193,500,000 gallons and 227,200,000 gallons.

Both Sides Push Probing Attacks On Korean Front

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(AP)—United Nations patrols battled a Communist platoon northwest of Musan, U. N. advance peace headquarters, today while both sides pushed probing attacks elsewhere along the front.

Several clashes were reported on the central front. Two light probing attacks by the Reds were repulsed west of Chorwon and a Red platoon was scattered northeast of Kumhwa. Other U. N. forces battled Communists south of Kumsong, suspected new Red buildup area.

Husband Hunter Weds Her Old Boy Friend; Spurns 200 Offers

VICKSBURG, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Gregory, the husband-hunting divorcee, passed up 200 proposals to accept that of her truck-driving, long-time boy friend, Lewis Kline of Three Rivers. They were married yesterday at Angola, Ind., by Justice Harvey E. Shoup.

Mrs. Kline, then Mrs. Gregory, walked into a newspaper office a couple of weeks ago, accompanied by her three children, and announced: "I need a husband."

She was unable, she said, to care for her brood and a cancer-stricken mother, and promised "to make a good wife" for anyone able to support the family and pay her mother's hospital bills.

Proposals poured in by mail and telephone. She gave three of them the once-over at meetings Saturday. But they didn't suit her. A Wyoming trapper was among the volunteers so was a mail carrier.

Fort Custer Sergeant Accused Of Supplying Marijuana To Ring

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—(AP)—A Fort Custer sergeant, Cosmo Armendola, 21, of New Haven, Conn., was held today by military authorities who said he supplied a ring here with marijuana cigarettes.

Two teenagers suspected of being peddlers named Armendola as their source of supply.

Military police said they found marijuana cigarettes in Armendola's clothing, and that he later produced three pounds of bulk marijuana, a small set of scales and a cigarette rolling machine.

City detectives said the teenagers claimed they paid Armendola 50 cents per cigarette and sold them for $1 apiece.

Armendola told police he bought the bulk marijuana from a man named "Raul" for $150 in El Paso, Texas, two months ago while on leave.

State Buys Whisky From Scotland; Three Cases Full Of Bricks

LANSING—(AP)—Now Scotch whisky can warm or excite or soothe—but it can't rattle.

So when a clerk of the State Liquor Control Commission picked up three cases of Scotch fresh from the Highlands he was a little startled to hear them rattle.

The three cases each had 12 bottles neatly substituted for 12 bottles of the old stuff. Each brick weighed the exact amount each bottle should have weighed.

Said chairman George J. Buke, Jr., "some enterprising young Scotchman took our money and sent us bricks."

Buke intimated he didn't care much whether his scotch was 100 proof or 86 proof—but he would like it rattle proof in the future.

stitute of Pacific Relations (IPR). The subcommittee, headed by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) has been secretly investigating the IPR for months. It figured in last year's Senate investigation of charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Communists had infiltrated the state department.

A majority of the committee which looked into those charges called them baseless. McCarthy and some other Republicans retorted that the majority report was a whitewash.

The McCarran group wants to find out if the IPR has ever had any "Communist influences" Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), a subcommittee member said. He added he did not mean to imply it had.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire "angel" of left wing causes, is scheduled as the second witness.

The IPR, founded over 20 years ago, calls itself a research and information agency on Far Eastern problems and denies it is tainted in any way with Communist influences.

Meanwhile, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) discounted reports that Mr. Truman might veto a measure he will soon get extending wage, price and other controls of one year.

The bill, passed in different forms by the House and Senate, is now being worked over by a conference committee. Once that committee has agreed on a compromise measure it goes back to the two houses and then, if approved, to the White House for the president's signature.

Argyrol Millionaire Dies In Auto Crash At Phoenixville, Pa.

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa.—(AP)—Dr. Albert C. Barnes, 78, who became a millionaire in the 1920s as the result of his discovery and manufacture of Argyrol, was thrown from his convertible and killed yesterday at a highway intersection near here.

State police said Dr. Barnes' car collided with a truck driven by Samuel E. Ash, 30, Phoenixville, who was uninjured.

Dr. Barnes, who devoted the last 20 years to amassing a fabulous art collection, was president of the $6,000,000 endowed Barnes foundation he established in nearby Merion.

The Barnes collection of French modernist paintings and other art objects is valued by experts at more than $20,000,000.

Chuck Drulis Joins Packer Coach Staff

GREEN BAY, Wis.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers announced today that Chuck Drulis—who has played seven years of professional football as a guard for the Chicago Bears and the Packers—has been named an assistant coach.

The signing of Drulis rounds out head coach Gene Ronzani's staff. Other assistants on the National professional football league team are Dick Plasman, Ray McLean and Tarz Taylor.

Drulis came to the Packers from the Bears early last season. He played college ball at Temple university.

Acheson Predicts Long Pull Ahead To Protect U. S. A.

of pooling military strength is a revolutionary peacetime accomplishment," Acheson said. "At Paris several of the European nations are now in conference seeking to carry this principle further forward by establishing a single European defense force. We are deeply concerned with the success of this conference, and we are doing all that friendly cooperation can do to help it succeed."

Long Way To Go

Acheson gave a breakdown of Communist armed forces. "What these figures mean for us," he said, "is that we have a long way to go before we can breathe more easily."

Estimating the Communists had a total of nine million under arms, the secretary of state said: "The Soviet Union has more than four million men under arms. Chinese Communist forces exceed three and one half million men. The European satellite regimes have nearly a million."

The Allies, Acheson said, "do not have to match the Soviet armies man for man, or gun for gun, since our mission is to deter, not to attack." He added, "but we have a long way to go before we reach a safe deterrent level."

The aim of the Allied powers, Acheson said, must be to convince Soviet Russia "that no one power is going to dominate this world and that it would be foolhardy for any power to try to do so."

Tinley Park Couple Gets Out Of Marines

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Schmidt of Tinley Park, Ill., a couple of sergeants, have been placed on inactive duty by the Marines.

The Schmidts were recalled to duty last August with the Ninth Reserve Battalion of Chicago.

Paul, 25, left September 1 for Korea. After participating in some of the most bitter fighting of the war and the evacuation of Hungnam, he was flown back to the United States December 6.

He was assigned to the San Francisco depot of supplies, where his wife, Alice, was working. She first enlisted in the Marines in March of 1943 and Schmidt in February, 1944. They were married July 7, 1948.

Schmidt plans to go back to his old job as a towerman with the Rock Island railroad. His wife again will be a stenographer with Kiwanis International in Chicago.

Suffocated In Fire

PONTIAC, Mich.—(AP)—Gus Zello, 69, was suffocated today in a fire which damaged his rooming house at Pontiac.

Zello was overcome before he could escape an upstairs bedroom.

Origin of the blaze was not known immediately.

President Will Speak At Noon Saturday At Detroit City Hall

DETROIT—(AP)—President Truman will arrive at Willow Run airport at 10:20 a. m. EST Saturday for his noon address at Detroit city hall.

He will travel in the White House plane, "The Independence," which will leave Washington National airport at 8:35 a. m. EST.

The president will return to the airport immediately after his speech for a 2:45 p. m. EST, take-off for Washington.

Mr. Truman's speech, which will climax Detroit's observance of its 250th birthday, will be broadcast by the ABC and Mutual networks. Other networks will carry the speech later through recordings.

Wind Brings Tree

BATTLE CREEK—(AP)—Walter Skutt found a large oak tree deposited on a field of his farm after a recent windstorm, but he can't find where the oak came from. He searched for several hundred yards in each direction from the uprooted tree, but found no hole.

Pockets Picked

NORTHFORK, W. Va.—(AP)—A burglar pried open a window and took $400 to $500 from the trouser pockets of John Verducci as he slept in a back room of his service station. Why was Verducci sleeping there? Just guarding the place against thieves, he told state police yesterday.

Decision On U. S. Military Boost Due In October in existence), with proposals by some Congress members to expand that to 150 groups.

(The size of a group varies from the 30 planes in a heavy bomber unit of B-36s to 75 aircraft in a fighter unit.)

Marshall was asked if the October decision on whether or how much to expand would be predicted on the idea of a "balanced force"—whether the army and navy would be expanded if the size of the Air Force was increased. The secretary replied no, not necessarily—other factors might be involved.

Reaches 90 Billions

He said, as an example, the balanced forces idea might not apply because U. S. commitments under the European defense program might impose different requirements than those for army troop needs outside of the European area.

One factor that will help decide whether the present ceilings should be exceeded, Marshall explained, will be reports from the Selective Service system giving estimates on the size of the manpower pool from which further expansions could be made.

Meanwhile, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said the defense production blueprint contained in Mr. Truman's economic message makes it clear that spending next year will reach $90,000,000,000, as Taft had predicted earlier.

Battery Starts Auto At 65 Below

Was Developed At U. Of Michigan

ANN ARBOR—A lightweight storage battery which will start a car at 65 degrees below zero has been developed at the University of Michigan Engineering Research Institute under the sponsorship of the U. S. Army Ordnance Corps.

Expected to have wide application not only in military installations but commercially, the battery utilizes a new principle in the construction of the grids.

According to L. L. Carrick, professor of chemical engineering at the University and L. S. Gerber of the Detroit Arsenal, directors of the research project, the new battery was made possible by successfully lead plating materials ordinarily corroded by sulphuric acid.

This makes it possible to replace large amounts of the lead used in standard batteries with aluminum, brass, iron or copper. The use of these materials results in a much lighter yet more powerful battery.

Designed to meet the exacting standards of widespread military operations, the new battery has withstood tests proving it to operate effectively at temperatures ranging from 165 degrees above to 95 degrees below zero. The battery also maintains a constant high power output over a long period of time, saves both space and weight compared with commercial batteries now in use and maintains its charge for long periods of time when not in use.

was made in Russia. Three Marines found the jeep in a rice paddy and decided to fix it up.

Under the dilapidated hood they found a motor identical to that of a Model A Ford—a cinch to fix for anybody who knew anything about cars. A foot wider than GI jeeps, the Red model is a little difficult to maneuver on narrow Korean roads.

Central Mine To Hold Annual Reunion Sunday

By BESSIE PHILLIPS

CALUMET, Mich.—The 45th annual reunion of the Central Mine Methodist church will be held on Sunday, July 29, starting at 10:30.

Dr. Glen Frye of Detroit will be the speaker for the day. He is an assistant to Bishop Reed and is prominently known as a speaker.

The committee in charge invites all to attend the reunion service, enjoy the special music, join in singing old familiar hymns with the congregation, meet friends and renew old acquaintances.

A large number of former residents, spending their vacations at their summer homes, make it a "must" to attend these services.

The Methodist church at Central Mine was built in 1888 by the Central Mining company. It continued in use until 1893 and was one of the most active churches in Keweenaw county. It made no difference whether the pastor was in charge or whether a local preacher, of whom there were quite a number in those days, occupied the pulpit. Every seat was filled.

There were Epworth and Junior leagues in connection with the church but at this time there were no Ladies Aids or Women's Society of Christian Service.

The Central Mine is located 20 miles east of Calumet on U. S. 41. It is bordered on the west by the Winthrop and on the east by the North Western mines about midway south between Eagle Harbor and Eagle River, and is well up on the hill. The greenstone formation passes east and west through the north half at the elevation of 700 feet above the lake level.

Bulkeley Discovers Mine

The mine was first discovered by Robert W. Bulkeley, who was part owner. He arrived at Eagle River August 8, 1846, in a 20 foot birchbark canoe with Abel A. Bennett and Edwin Farrar.

An ancient excavation was opened at the place of discovery by a party of men under John

THE THOUSANDS OF RHEUMATISM AND ARTHRITIS SUFFERERS RIGHT HERE IN MICHIGAN REPORTING AMAZING RESULTS FROM O-JIB-WA BITTERS IS CONVINCING PROOF THAT YOU SHOULD TRY IT.

Mr. William McComb, Flint, suffered with rheumatism and arthritis before he tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Now he urges every person to try it.

"I spent a lot of money with very little results before I tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The arthritis in my knees and right arm was so bad that I had to drag myself around with the use of a chair. It was all I could do to raise my arm to feed myself. The pain was terrible and needless to say, I had to quit my job at the Buick. On the recommendation of friends, I started taking O-JIB-WA, and can truthfully say that I was surprised at my improvement in less than a month. The aches and pains have entirely left me and except for occasional stiffness, my rheumatism and arthritis is completely gone. O-JIB-WA BITTERS also did wonders for my stomach, kidneys and nerves and gave me lots of pep."

The Truth Quickly Told

Many medicines have come and gone during the past 35 years, but the merits of O-JIB-WA BITTERS have made it a continual success. If its results you're after, you can't do better than give O-JIB-WA BITTERS a fair trial. Available in three economical sizes at

Stamp Mill Built

The stamp mill was built in 1861 and it produced over 204 tons of 79.1 per cent mineral. Four shafts had already been sunk and in 1863 an incline shaft for a double track was begun between Nos. 3 and 4 shafts.

Other improvements became necessary so $44,000 was spent in surface improvements and 7,000 acres of timber was bought to supply the necessary timber and fuel for the mine.

A dividend of $2.50 a share was made from the earnings and it continued to pay dividends. Some large masses of copper had been found and in 1866 the product was about equally divided between the stamp and mass copper amounting to 876 tons, and 1160 pounds, yielding 79.44 per cent refined copper.

In 1875 a powerful hoisting engine and two large winding drums were put in, a new stone engine house erected, a new engine for pumping and working the main engine shaft was bought, 18 houses erected, and another dividend of $5 a share declared.

In 1878 the Madison mine was sold at a sheriff's sale and bought by the Central Mining Co., but the Madison company redeemed it again the following year. Their shipping point was at Eagle Harbor, where they had a dock and warehouse.

The mine was under the management of John Stanton and was worked until 1896, when it was closed.

The Calumet & Hecla Consolidated Copper company bought the mine in 1905 and now controls all property in this section.

Telephone Installed

To keep up with the latest improvements, a telephone was erected in July 1882, connecting Central Mine with Eagle Harbor. The exchange was in Houghton. The Central post office was established in 1872. In 1868, the church was built.

It is used now but once a year for the annual re-union services, when the older residents gather to worship and renew acquaintances.

Although there will be a barrier across the highway junction where it is re-routed, someone will be present to direct traffic to Central.

The ruins of the mining buildings stand as monuments to the hardy pioneers who made their Upper Michigan hasn't a monopoly on no-hit, no-run games, although baseball followers may have gotten that impression this season. . . . Paul Thomsen, Marinette high school junior, pegged his goose-egg game Sunday in the Northeastern Wisconsin Legion Junior Baseball league against Algoma. . . . Thomsen's pitching gem was the first no-hitter by a Marinette youth since Eddie Poquette performed the feat at Oconto in 1948. . . . Poquette is now a Wisconsin State league chucker. . . . Thomsen missed a perfect game when one Algoma batter reached first base with a walk in the fifth inning.

Ken Lowe, writing in his sports column in the Marquette Mining Journal, reports that one batter had this alibi when he fanned on the offerings of Eddie Feigner, limber-limbed pitcher for the King and His Court: "I wasn't swinging slow on his first pitch; I was just bringing the bat around for his next one."

Rusty Hiltonen mowed down 13 Janesville batters Saturday night via strikeouts but his team lost a 6-3 Wisconsin League contest. . . . Little Russ went the distance for the Oshkosh Giants. . . . He allowed 10 hits and Janesville scored four in the third and two in the seventh.

Wally Flath failed to get his furlough from the army last week-end and wasn't on hand when his Bark River mates edged Foster City 9-8 in a Tri-County league outing Sunday. . . . He was all set to leave on his furlough when his orders were changed. . . . He left instead for an Officers Candidate School. . . . He was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

The Softball association took out rain insurance on the King and His Court game Saturday night but the weather turned out perfect. . . . The attendance was not only the largest for a softball game at the field, the gate receipts were also the best ever recorded. . . . Fans poured $738 into the coffers, with the Association and Feigner splitting 50-50.

Bark River Tops Escanaba By 5-3

Bark River hung a 5-3 exhibition loss on the Bears here yesterday afternoon to halt the Escanaba team's undefeated march through Tri-County league competition.

Manager Leo Knauf's visitors set an early pace with three runs in the second inning. They added two in the fifth to lead 5-0 before the Bears tallied once in the sixth and twice in the ninth.

Ray Menard went the route for the Bark River club, allowing only five hits three of them in

Swimmers And Divers Compete At Detroit

DETROIT—(AP)—The largest and classiest field of swimmers and divers assembled in the United States since the Olympic trials of 1948 begins here today its quest for 1951 AAU outdoor championships.

Every swimmer who will represent the U. S. at the 1952 Olympic games in Helsinki is here.

An 18-year-old Hawaiian schoolboy, Ford Konno, is here to challenge John Marshall, defending champion in three freestyle races from 400 to 1,500 meters.

World's Greatest? What is more, most experts are picking Konno to beat Marshall and possibly establish himself as "the world's greatest swimmer."

Bob Kiphuth, Marshall's coach at Yale, says that "Konno is five seconds faster than Marshall and seven seconds better than Hironaka Furuhashi, the Japanese."

Konno was runner-up to Marshall in two longer distance races at Seattle last year, but the Hawaiian's coach Yoshito Sagawa, says Konno has improved greatly since then.

They begin their competition in separate qualifying heats for the

Keller, Stuart Stars As Tigers Nip Senators 2-1

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers' newly adopted age-before beauty policy paid off here last night.

Two elderly gents as baseball goes—Marlin Stuart and Charley Keller—combined their veteran talents to produce a 2 to 1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Detroit, as a result kept safe its leadership of the second division in the American league, leaving the challenging Senators two games out.

In an attempt to make it two straight Manager Red Rolfe of the Tigers picked Freddy Hutchinson to take the mound today.

Six-Hitter Some of the heat was off, thanks to Stuart and Keller. Stuart, 32-year-old right-hander, held Washington to six hits to win his second straight start since Rolfe dived to the bottom of the barrel for pitchers.

The Escanaba Cubs, American Legion Junior baseball champions of the 11th district, will face Bark River here this evening in a 6 o'clock Waubung league make-up game.

Cubs Play Bark River At 6 P. M.

First Outing Since Winning District

The Escanaba Cubs, American Legion Junior baseball champions of the 11th district, will face Bark River here this evening in a 6 o'clock Waubung league make-up game.

Coach Al Ness' Cubs won the 11th district crown at Sunday afternoon, defeating Gladstone 6-0 in the finals. The tournament made it necessary to postpone the Bark River game scheduled for Sunday.

The Cubs are undefeated in Waubung league play with five straight wins. Bark River has one win and six defeats to date.

Coach Ness said his regular lineup will open against Bark River and all players will see action as the team tunes up for its U. P. championship series against Iron River here next Saturday and Sunday.

The three-man Cub mound staff will get a workout with Jack Chriske, Fred Boddy and Dick Cass all slated to see action.

'Hard To Believe' Bradley Head Says

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—"I am finding it very hard to believe," was the comment yesterday by President David Blair Owen of Bradley university in connection with the bribes taken by five Bradley basketball players.

"If the long arm of the big city gambler can reach out to prey on these youngsters who have received national prominence, I am convinced it could happen anywhere," Owen told a reporter.

Owen, who is vacationing here, said he was "more convinced than ever that we should play our college games under conditions where these boys will not be subjected to the influences of these vicious gamblers."

He added that Bradley's schedule for next season was arranged "with this in mind." The national campus cage tournament which Bradley held after the regular 1950-51 season was "another effort in the same direction," Owen said.

Columbus Dumps St. Paul Into Second

(By The Associated Press) Columbus, last place in the American Association, dropped St. Paul into the second spot, one and a half games behind Milwaukee, with a doubleheader victory over the Saints Tuesday night, 12-6 and 5-3.

Milwaukee beat Indianapolis, 7-2, for its seventh straight victory. Toledo edged Minneapolis, 3-2, getting its winning run in the ninth inning when Miller Catcher Ray Katt allowed a passed ball.

Kansas City snapped its six game losing streak with a 10-8 victory over Louisville.

Hoernschmeyer Signs With Detroit Lions

DETROIT — (AP)—Bob Hoernschmeyer will run the ball for the Detroit Lions of the National pro football league again this year.

The former Indiana star, leading ground gainer for Detroit last season, yesterday became the first Lion to agree to 1951 terms. The Lions open training at Ypsilanti next week.

Firemen, Lions To Play S-Ball Tangle Tonight At Bark River Field

BARK RIVER—Softball supremacy will be at stake when the Bark River firemen cross bats with the Bark River Lions this evening at 7 p. m. on the baseball diamond.

The game, a benefit affair with proceeds to be divided between the two groups will settle a long-standing argument as to which team has the best softball players.

Tom Swift, King Lion, will handle pitching chores for the Lions team. He will oppose Fire Chief Herman Palmgren in what is expected to be a mound "duel."

Both teams have been practicing, managers report, and will be ready for fast action. All the Lions and all the fire laddies are slated for action.

Four oldtimer umpires will handle the game. John Heim, Otto Sherf, Frank Romaine and Simon McDermott will be the arbiters.

Rubber Smuggling Rises In Singapore

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Rubber smugglers aren't doing so well. Singapore police seized about 400 pounds of rubber and arrested 25 men in a recent 10-day period. That's a $100,000 loss for the smugglers.

Efforts to get rubber out of Singapore illegally have increased with the sensational rise in rubber prices. Rubber now sells in the Singapore market for $2.25 per pound, and has been up as high as $2.36.

Farms Decline In Michigan

Drop From 1,472 To
1,160 In Delta

Only three of Michigan's 88 counties showed as many farms in the 1950 census as in the 1940 tabulation, preliminary census figures show.

Although the definition of a farm was changed slightly and may result in some difference in the total, the number of farms in Michigan dropped from 175,268 to 155,575 in the ten year period.

Michigan State College officials, in checking preliminary figures, found only Antrim, Jackson and Missaukee counties gained in total number of farms. Jackson county gained from 2,737 to 2,852 for the greatest increase. Antrim county had only one more farm with 1,078 in 1950.

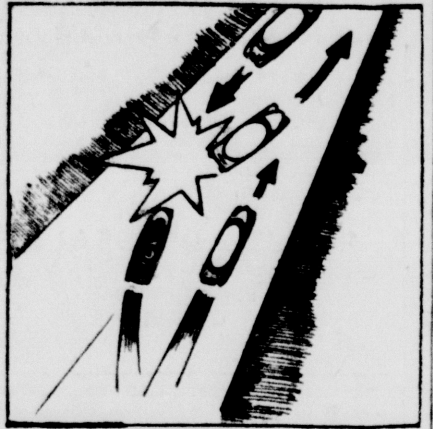

The tendency for larger sized farms and the growth of industrial plants and residential districts to absorb farms adjoining population centers account for much of the shrinkage, MSC officials contended.

Total farm production is higher, even though the number of farms is fewer and the number of people living on farms is greatly reduced. Agricultural economists find that the increase in productivity for each man hour worked by farmers has increased even greater in many instances than in industrial fields in Michigan.

Unwritten Laws Of The Road

No. 12: Be Careful In Following The Car Ahead When It Is Passing.

It is easy to get impatient with the driver ahead of you who acts so coy about waiting to pass the car ahead of him. When he finally gets his courage up and starts to go by, you are inclined to close in behind him and make your pass at the same time. If you do this you may place your life in his hands. Once you get in the "slot" with oncoming traffic whizzing toward you, he has you in the palm of his hand. All he has to do is ease up on his accelerator and slow down so that you can't pull over to the right in behind him and you are in for trouble. Wait until the car ahead completes its pass if oncoming traffic is present.
